Official Greetings
2017 Solar Business Festival
November 29-30, 2017

Greetings:

I am pleased to welcome the 2017 Solar Business Festival to the great City of Austin. I hope you enjoy your time here just as much as I enjoy representing this city in Washington, D.C. Although I am unable to attend today's event, I join you in spirit, and thank you for bringing such an important and informational event to our city.

It is no secret that the sun is plentiful in Texas. A boost towards green energy is a boost towards green jobs, which means more affordable clean energy for Americans. This step in the right direction is all thanks to the hard work and bright minds of the many in attendance at today's festival.

It is crucial that we often join together, as you all are doing today, in order to strengthen relations between leaders and innovators in the solar market. This partnership is essential in order to make further changes in public policy and to ensure the promotion of the green economy we seek. Today, America confronts a variety of challenges. Whether it be a crippling dependence on fossil fuels or an economy that has still not fully recovered, I myself remain dedicated to advancing a sustainable environment. I will continue to push for programs and legislation that will serve and benefit not only this community but will also work towards a more green earth.

Again, thank you for choosing Austin to host your event. While you are here, I hope you take some time to enjoy all our city has to offer; from amazing barbecue to live music to numerous outdoor activities exploring all of our beautiful nature treasures. Best of luck in your endeavors, and welcome to Austin.

Sincerely,

Lloyd Doggett
